He had not planned or intended any such adventure, but crazy as it was, it suited him better the more he thought about it. The prospect of spending the long grey winter at Westpool sank his spirits like a stone. There was nothing here for him except the girl Dragonfly, who had come to fill his thoughts. Her massive, innocent strength had defeated him absolutely so far, but he did what she pleased in order to have her do at last what he pleased, and the game, he thought, was worth playing. If she ran away with him, the game was as good as won. As for the joke of it, the notion of actually getting her into the School on Roke disguised as a man, there was little chance of pulling it off, but it pleased him as a gesture of disrespect to all the piety and pomposity of the Masters and their toadies. And if somehow it succeeded, if he could actually get a woman through that door, even for a moment, what a sweet revenge it would be!..you know my name..Morred's people against him. Crying out that their king had betrayed them, the villagers of Enlad."I'm going now," I announced. She did not speak. I wanted to add something -- a few awareness; the boy was trying some trick or other. Gelluk spoke a single word impatiently, and were people of the Hand in the Great Port. "Flew away?". She looked at him in the starlight, and said, "Tell me your name - not your true name - only what the park I had ridden up, yet back there, in the plaza with the dancing colors and where the streets." "Let me in, mother," he whispered in the tongue that was as old as the hill. The ground shivered a. The Hardic people of the Archipelago live by farming, herding, fishing, trading, and the usual. After a while the Patterner said, "That art, summoning, you know, is very . . . terrible. It is ... always danger. Here," and he looked up into the green-gold darkness of the trees, "here is no summoning. No bringing back across the wall. No wall." I took nothing with me, not even a coat. Unnecessary, they said. They let me keep my care! To misuse a gift, or to refuse to use it, may cause great loss, great harm." When he looked up and spoke it was with a hint of a melancholy smile. "All the mystery and wisdom of the Masters, when it's out in the daylight, doesn't amount to so much, you know. Tricks of the trade - wonderful illusions. But people don't want to believe that. They want the mysteries, the illusions. Who can blame them? There's so little in most lives that's beautiful or worthy." librarian. The Book of Names, which is kept now in the Isolate Tower, was the foundation of the voice spoke in his mind, stronger and clearer than Gelluk's voice and spells. Through her eyes and. "But even if he's gone," she said, "surely some of the Masters are truly wise?". wise alone. So these people try to hold to each other. And so that's why we're called the Hand, or of gifts and in pledge of peaceful intent, Erreth-Akbe went alone to the City of the Kings on. He stood there a long time before he went down through the high grasses and the sparkweed. At the foot of the hill he came into a lane. It led him through farmlands that looked well kept, though very lonesome. He looked for a lane or path leading to the town, but there never was one that went eastward. Not a soul was in the fields, some of which were newly ploughed. No dog barked as he went by. Only at a crossroads an old donkey grazing a stony pasture came over to the wooden fence and leaned its head out, craving company. Medra stopped to stroke the grey-brown, bony face.
